Personal skills and competences	Carrying from the very beginning my work for people and with people I have acquired communicative inter-human competences. Considering that a good teacher must always be a good psychologist too, I have always tried to understand the people I am working with in order to be a real help for those who asked me for help or for those whose activity depended on me. I consider that the relation with the students, the people you train must be seen as a partnership teacher-student, a complementary relationship not a dependent one.
